I made a video about using hex editor at this link, and there are lots of other links for using hex editors, like this one. Q: Refresh a combobox in a form from another form I have a form with a combobox. I want to refresh the combo box from another form. Please help me with the code to do that. The combobox in the form A is not refreshing when I choose another item from the combobox in form

B. Form A: Form B: A: Add form B reference to your form A. Add an event of combobox control in form A as: private void comboBox1_SelectionChanged(object sender, EventArgs e) { FormB formB = new FormB(); formB.Show(); } Now you can set the new value to your combo box in form B. Business of The Cinefamily January 18, 2012 The Cinefamily is getting something that's probably been long overdue: It's a business. "We've become so community-oriented in terms of making sure that it's run on a nonprofit basis. But that doesn't mean we don't want to be a for-profit business," said Cinefamily co-founder Mark Schwartz. The 35-year-old Santa Monica nonprofit's recent expansion to the Fairfax District has been financed through money raised by private donors, and Schwartz hopes that it will begin generating revenue from the project this year. A job listing for a general manager has been posted on Cinefamily's Web site, and the theater will soon open the doors to the Fairfax location with movies, public events, access to projectors, and a media bar. The Cinefamily is primarily a nonprofit with five theaters in Los Angeles and New York. The Fairfax venue, at 2124 Mission St., will be its first in a city that has several commercial theaters. "It's about being a catalyst for change," said Schwartz. "Santa Monica was not known as the movie town at the time, and if we've done anything, it's to bring people here." The Fairfax expansion is the first 82157476af
